

MUSIC & MEMORY® Tablet Engagement Enriching Lives with Everyday Technology

Now more than ever, as residential care organizations are looking for more in-room activities to help reduce the emotional and physical effects of isolation, tablets can make it easier to stay connected and provide genuine communication.

Music & Memory provides in-depth training for caregivers to introduce tablets to your communities. Designed as an extension of our personalized music program, participants will learn how to use a tablet to inspire meaningful experiences for those in their care, including:

- Using Facetime and Skype to stay connected with family and loved ones.
- Creating a personalized music playlist.
- Engaging in interactive or individual activities with recommended music engagement apps.

Training also includes guidance for purchasing a tablet and making it more accessible, operation instructions, and solutions for common issues.

Enrollment cost: $800 per organization. Includes Music & Memory Certification Training and one year of training & support services. Free for all certified organizations with current memberships. To register, visit musicandmemory.org/training. For questions, email info@musicandmemory.org.

"The use of the tablet is unlimited. They can be used by all to varying degrees with and without assistance." - Cindy Dawson, Oneida County Long Term Care, West Malad, Idaho
